

Social and Personal

THE opening of the week and the season was fully and beautifully sustained last night. In the debut reception and dance at which Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Davenport introduced their niece, Miss Elizabeth Harmond, to the society world of Richmond.

The hall and foyer of Masonic Temple were transformed for the evening by the aid of oriental rugs, hangings, sofas and softly-shaded lamps into an environment against which the elegant evening gowns and jewels of guests showed to the handsomest possible advantage. Palms were grouped here and there, and intertwined with festoons of running cedar and southern cypress, was the brilliant crimson glow of poinsettia blossoms.

In the dining room a profusion of pink roses and carnations, took the place of the poinsettias. Baskets holding showers of the roses occupied the centers of the tables, and bouquets of little roses and sprays of lilies of the valley lay beside the covers.

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport stood together to receive their guests. Mrs. Davenport was wearing lovely old black lace over gold-colored satin. Her jewels were opals and diamonds in rarely antique settings, and her flowers Golden Gate roses.

Miss Hargrave bore her honors with graceful self-possession and ease. She wore the debutante's own color, pink, in soft satin veiled with chiffon that was elaborately embroidered in gold and pink roses. A charming detail of her costume was her nosegay of pink roses, carried in the jeweled bouquet-holder that had gone, in her belt, to dance and receptions with Mr. Davenport's mother.

Certainly no young girl at the ceremony of her presentation could have received or desired anything more than fell to the lot of Miss Hargrave last night.

CHILDREN'S FACES AWFUL WITH RASH

Ran Over Bodies, Too. Dry and Very Crusty—Used Cuticura and Did No More Scratching, Eczema Disappeared in 6 Weeks.

Now More Than Two Years Ago and No Sign of Trouble Has Returned.

"My two children suffered from an affection of the face and hands. It started first with little red spots which afterwards got big and ugly. Until they were the size of five-cent pieces. The outside became very crusty. The rash on their faces was awful and afterwards it ran over the body too."

"I had a doctor for them but he could not help. Then I read of the Cuticura Remedies. As I am a chemist, having served my apprenticeship in Germany, I did not have much confidence in them. Yet I was soon taught something better, for after I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent the first time the children felt very well and did no more scratching. Then the eczema became dry and entirely disappeared after about six weeks' treatment. This is now more than two years ago and no sign of the trouble has returned, therefore I can recommend the Cuticura Remedies without reserve to all people who are suffering with eczema." William Greck, 74 Douglas St., Brooklyn, N. Y., Mar. 10, 1910.

Monument Erected to Confederate Dead of Franklin County.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Rocky Mount, Va., December 1.—The monument to the Confederate dead of Franklin county was unveiled today in the presence of between 700 or 800 people. The inclement weather interfered somewhat and the attendance was smaller than was expected. There were probably 125 veterans present, with the local chapter of U. D. C. and the camp of Sons of Veterans. The veterans, headed by a band and followed by the U. D. C.'s and Sons of Veterans, formed at the Norfolk and Western depot and marched to the courthouse, where Hon. E. W. Saunders introduced the speaker of the occasion, Hon. Samuel W. Williams, Attorney General of Virginia. He made an eloquent speech, bidding the occasion.

At the conclusion of Mr. Williams's speech the unveiling ceremony took place, and after that the veterans were marched to the old Gaston House, where a sumptuous dinner was served. The monument is located in a commanding position in the northwest corner of the courthouse square. It is of North Carolina granite, nine feet high, surmounted by a marble figure from Italy, representing a Confederate infantryman at rest, with his gun by his side. The figure is six feet in height. On the base of the monument is "1861-1865" in large figures; on one side a list of the fifteen companies that went from Franklin, and on another side "Erected by Jubal Early Chapter, U. D. C., and R. H. Fishburne jointly."

CLAIMS MANY VOTERS ILLEGALLY REGISTERED
Sensational Charge Made by Counsel of Lynchburg Anti-Saloon League.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., December 1.—In connection with the intense interest here in the approaching local election, the city is enjoying a sensation as the result of the charge that upwards of 400 voters have been placed upon the registration books during the present year in an unconstitutional manner. For the first time to-day, since the statement was made Monday night by Rev. J. B. McAllister, general secretary of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League, when he was introduced by Hon. J. B. McAllister, the charge is explained this afternoon in an interview given out by George E. Caskey, counsel for the local league. It is claimed that about 400 new voters have been illegally registered in this city; that they were not required to make a written application for registration, as is required by the State law. Only one of the eight registrars of the city, it is claimed, has complied with this provision. Hence, it is asserted these voters are not duly registered. At the same time, Attorney Caskey takes the ground that there is no way provided by law to purge the books, claiming the only thing is to challenge the new voters on election day and thus lay the ground for a contest, should the "wets" succeed in voting the saloon back to the city. It is believed here that this saloon disregard of the law has been general over Virginia, since the new regime went into effect January, 1904.

HERNDON MERCHANTS CLAIM DISCRIMINATION
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, D. C., December 1.—The Chamber of Commerce of Herndon has asked the Washington Board of Trade to take action to help the grocers from what are claimed to be discriminatory freight rates between this city and Herndon.

The request was referred to the public transportation committee, and in turn referred back to the secretary's office with the recommendation that the suggestion be made to the Herndon Chamber that relief be sought through the Interstate Commerce Commission by filing a complaint. Herndon merchants complain that although they would like to do business with Washington houses, they cannot do so by reason of discriminatory rates from this city.

The Board of Trade, through its transportation committee, thinks it is not in position to help the situation, and suggests that Washington's would-be customers apply direct to the Interstate Commerce Commission.
